Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-13, drawn to a nucleic acid encoding a protein involved in a signal transduction cascade and a method of using that nucleic acid to increase SAR in a plant, plants transformed with that nucleic acid, classified in class 800, subclass 279, for example.
- II. Claims 14-19, drawn to a promoter, and plants transformed with that promoter, classified in class 536, subclass 24.1, for example.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions have different modes of operation, different functions and different effects. The promoter of invention II can be used in combination with genes other than the genes of invention I, including genes encoding other proteins involved in signal transduction of SAR or genes encoding proteins that have nothing whatsoever to do with SAR. The coding region of invention I can be used in combination with promoters other than that of invention II, including constitutive promoters.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, fields of search, and classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is reminded that nucleotide sequences encoding different proteins are structurally distinct chemical compounds and are unrelated to one another. These sequences are thus deemed to normally constitute independent and distinct inventions within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. 121. Absent evidence to the contrary, each such nucleotide sequence is presumed to represent an independent and distinct invention, subject to a restriction requirement pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 121 and 37 CFR 1.141 et seq (see MPEP 803.04 and 2434).

Upon election of a Group, Applicant is additionally required to select nucleic acids encoding a single amino acid sequence for said Group. This requirement is not to be construed as a requirement for an election of species, since each sequence is not a member of single genus of invention, but constitutes an independent and patentably distinct invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
